Free Film Screening: Hunger
Steve McQueen's remarkable vision of the Troubles

Twenty years on from the Good Friday Agreement, we look back at the Troubles in Northern Ireland with a screening of Steve McQueen's acclaimed debut film Hunger, featuring a bravura performance from Michael Fassbender as IRA volunteer and Maze Prison hunger striker Bobby Sands.

Visual artist and filmmaker Steve McQueen's singular vision elevates the political standoff to an indelible portrait of the personal consequences of the conflict, for which he won the prestigious Cannes Caméra d'Or award.

Marc Mulholland, Professor of Modern History at Oxford, will give an introductory talk to accompany the screening.

FLJS Film: Hunger
With an introductory talk by Marc Mulholland, Professor of Modern History, Oxford
7pm, Wednesday 23 May
Auditorium, Wolfson College
Find out more and reserve your place

The Changing Model of Economic Regulation in the UK
Workshop to assess greater fairness for consumers

On 12 June, we will assess the increasing importance of 'fairness' for consumers as a criterion for more active intervention in UK markets, in a one-day workshop on economic regulation.

Drawing on 'nudge theory' and other aspects of behavioural economics to secure compliance with the new standards, the workshop will bring together practitioners and policymakers to consider proposals to ensure that consumers are treated fairly.

The Changing Model of Economic Regulation in the UK
Tuesday 12 June
Haldane Room, Wolfson College
Find out more and reserve your place
Reinterpreting Confucius & the Law
Dr Ying Yu draws parallels that challenge convention

Next month, Wolfson Research Fellow Dr Ying Yu will deliver a lecture to challenge conventional assumptions that China and the West have developed wholly different understandings of society, justice, and government.

Through a close analysis of Confucius’ ideas, Dr Yu will draw comparisons with the jurisprudential foundations of western societies, offering the basis for an entirely new approach.

Lecture:
Reinterpreting Confucius’ Ideas on Law, Justice and Society
Dr Ying Yu, Wolfson College Research Fellow, Oxford
5.30pm, Wednesday 13 June
Auditorium, Wolfson College
Find out more and reserve your place

Opinion Piece: Facebook, Big Data, and Digital Justice
Experts assess privatization of justice in latest Op-Ed

We have published a series of Opinion Pieces in recent months - on issues including electoral reform and fairness, the state of Brazil in the lead up to the October presidential election, and how the UK internal market jeopardizes relations within the UK.

In the latest Opinion Piece, Profs Ethan Katsh and Orna Rabinovich-Einy take a fresh look at the Facebook data scandal, and ask: How is the growth of internet giants and Big Data shaping the justice system of the digital age?

Read the Op-Eds:
Facebook, Big Data, and the Privatization of Justice in the Digital Age
Profs Ethan Katsh & Orna Rabinovich-Einy consider the implications of mega-platforms and Big Data for consumer privacy and rights

How the UK’s ‘internal market’ depends on EU rules - and jeopardizes relations in the UK
Prof Michael Dougan warns that confused Brexit policy threatens the unity of Great Britain & NI

The Unfulfilled Promise of the Brazilian Constitution
Prof Fernando Schuler reviews Brazil’s political malaise ahead of October’s presidential election

Electoral Reform: Democracy and Fairness
Director of Unlock Democracy Alexandra Runswick calls for proportional representation to help change our political culture and create a new spirit of collaboration
News and Podcasts
Listen in and read transcripts of our latest lectures

Over 1,000 people have accessed the transcript of Marcin Matczak's lecture last month which denounced recent attacks on judicial independence in Poland.

Follow the links below to catch up on his lecture, along with Frank Vibert's proposals for a 21st century constitution for the UK, and last week's conference on ethical business practice.

Policymakers, business leaders, and regulators assess shift from deterrence to values-based ethical business practice
Find out more

Former UN and World Bank advisor proposes modern-day UK Constitution based on consent and fairness
Read the proposal and listen to the podcast

Prominent critic of Law and Justice Party denounces "assault on the rule of law" in Poland as "out of a political thriller"
Download the transcript and listen to the podcast

Is your data up to date?
GDPR data protection laws come into force this month

From 25 May, the law is changing to protect individuals from the misuse of their personal data. Help us to keep you informed of content most relevant to you by updating your email preferences.

If you no longer wish to receive our bimonthly newsletters, you can unsubscribe here.

You can find out more about the changes at the links below.
GDPR FAQs
Watch video:
The Road to GDPR compliance

Contact
The Foundation for Law, Justice and Society
Wolfson College, Linton Rd, Oxford OX2 6UD

Stay Connected

